In my presentation/write-up I will talk about the role of machine learning in astronomy. I will mention why we cannot move forward in the observational astronomy, due to the problems that big data is making for us, unless we practice machine learning methods. I will specifically talk about the importance of machine learning methods for Square Kilometer Array project. Finally, I will address the pitfalls which we should be aware of, if do not pay attention to machine learning limitations.